Authors and Articles in 1968

January 15

Two Kinds of Technology—Robert E. Silverman
Educational Technology as:
Technology—Robert Heinich
Instructional Design—Robert Glaser
Instructional Communication—Donald P. Ely
An Approach—R. Louis Bright
Science of the Practical—John H. Humphrey
The ERIC Clearinghouse—Wilbur Schramm
Applying Educational Technology—Derick Unwin
The Educational Publisher—Robert W. Locke
A New Perspective—Charles L. Blaschke
Educational Technology Doesn't Really Exist—Leonard C. Silvern

January 30

A Cybernetic System Model for Occupational Education—Leonard C. Silvern
A View from Sweden—
Models of School Reform—Eskil Bjorklund
Models, Means and Measurement in Education—Gustave J. Rath

February 15

Changing the Structure of Secondary Education
with Simulated Environments—Sarane S. Boocock
The Secrets We Keep from Students—William A. Deterline
Non-CAI Instruction Using Computers and Non-Instructional
Uses of CAI Computers—Gustave J. Rath
Objectives in Action—Richard W. Burns

February 28

Technology and Educational Planning—John E. Coulson
A New Perspective on the Computerization of School Schedules—Dwight W. Allen
Mass Media and Communication—Charles A. Siepmann
Classroom Self-Evaluation—Donald E. Hess

March 15

Using the S-R Reinforcement Model—Robert E. Silverman
Educational Innovation and Basic Needs—Norman D. Kurland
Teaching Children to Read—Electronically—Ward Cramer and Suzanne Dorsey

March 30

From Reason to Technology—James C. Thomson, Jr.
Communication, Technology and Humor—W. Timothy Weaver
Where Are We Going?—John H. Humphrey

April 15

Components of a Cybernetic Instructional
System—M. David Merrill
Programmed Instruction in India—S. Thiagarajan
Computers Travel in Oregon—Judith B. Edwards
Filmstrips and Active Responding—Robert F. Bisson

April 30

Architecture—A Dynamic Factor in Learning—Richard Myrick
Simulation Games Today—Sarane S. Boocock
Army Student Response System—David L. Roush
Attitudes, Interests, Appreciations—Richard W. Burns

May 15

Data Processing in a Continuous Progress
Program—Peter K. Gurau
Philadelphia Tries Computer Assisted
Instruction—Sylvia Charp and Roger E. Wye

May 30

The Computer and Education—David Stansfield
Is the Innovator a Marginal Man?—W. Timothy Weaver
What Philosophy Systems Approach?—Fenwick English

June 15

An Instructional Application of Computer Graphics—
Thomas G. Williams and Charles H. Frye
Behavioral Objectives in the Cognitive and Affective Domains—Philip G. Kapfer
Behavioral Objectives and the Gifted—Miriam B. Kapfer
ERIC in Action—Report on One Center—James L. Laffey

June 30

Educational Technology: Economics, Management and Public Policy—Ronald Randall and Charles Blaschke
Comparative Study of CAI Programming Languages—Karl L. Zinn

July 15

Tomorrow's Educational Engineers—Gabriel D. Ofiesh
A Primer on ETV—J. David Truby
Educational Technology Grows in Britain—P. J. Tansey and Derick Unwin
Media Technology in Teacher Education—C. Edward Streeter

July 30

Toward A Science of Educational Evaluation—Daniel L. Stufflebeam
Who is the Educational Technologist—and Where is He?—Charles W. Slack
Simulation Games Today—II—Sarane S. Boocock

August 15

Toward A Taxonomy of Evaluation Designs—Blaine R. Worthen
What is Computer Assisted Instruction?—L. M. Stolurow
Teaching with Conceptual Models—Lyn Sandow and John Eric Victor

August 30

Systems Approach—What is It?—Leonard C. Silvern
A Set of Procedures for the Planning of Instruction—John W. Childs
The Computer and Management Information in Education-Related Organizations—Burdette Hansen
Army Training Reexamined—John H. McIntosh
Selected Summaries of Research Studies Including New Educational Media—John Moldstad

September 15

The Educational Technology Game—William A. Deterline
Environmental Structure: A Third Partner in Education—Lucia Pearce
Human Factors Engineering of Educational Systems—Gustave J. Rath
Book Review: Resistance to Innovation—Virgil E. Blanke

September 30

Learning Laboratories in North Carolina—Joseph B. Carter
The Harvard CAI Laboratory—L. M. Stolurow
Measuring Objectives and Grading—Richard W. Burns
An Ode to Problem Solving Using the Systems Approach—Louis L. Beck
Working with an Education Industry Contractor—Karel Montor
Bilingual Education—A Look Ahead—Armando Rodriguez

October 15

An Approach to the Assessment of Educational Planning—Michael S. Caldwell
The Open Book Examination—Clarence F. Willey

October 30

Man, Ritual, The Establishment and Instructional Technology—Charles F. Hoban
The Impact of Technology on Education—Norman D. Kurland
Improving the Performance of Culturally-Disadvantaged Adult Students—Mark L. Berman

November 15

Educational Technology as Technique—Robert M. Gagne
Low-Cost Technology in Higher Education—Richard E. Banister
In Reply to Deterline: A View from the Other Side—James Olsen

November 30

Suggested Tasks and Roles of Evaluation Specialists in Education—Thomas R. Owens
Developing Performance Objectives in Job Training Programs—Paul Harmon
Book Review: The Closed Corporation—Charles L. Blaschke

December 15

Fantasy and Reality in the Language of the New Technology—Louis M. Smith and Pat M. Keith
The Meaning of Instructional Technology: An Operational Analysis—Eldon J. Ullmer
Large Group Instruction—Outdated—Robert M. Diamond
Objectives and Content Validity of Tests—Richard W. Burns
School Facility Planning—Richard Myrick

December 30

Conditions for Innovation in Educational Technology—Leo E. Persselin
The Computer in Education:
Whose Mission? What Problem? Who Adapts to Whose Needs?—Joseph Margolin
Teacher Education and Educational Technology—Carl J. Lange

Article Reprint Service

Reprints of all ET articles are available to subscribers. Minimum order 100 copies per article.

1- 4 pages .... 25¢ each, $25 minimum order
5-10 pages .... 40¢ each, $40 minimum order
11 and over .... 50¢ each, $50 minimum order

Rates for more than 100 copies per article on request.

Write: Reprints
Educational Technology
P. O. Box 508
Saddle Brook, New Jersey 07662